2014

Argentinisches Tageblatt*, 1914-1933. Bludeau Partners International, LLC ($7,360)

Argentinisches Tageblatt (AT) was founded in Buenos Aires in 1889 by a Swiss immigrant Johann Alemann and his son Moritz. AT publication took a liberal/democratic position. It was firmly opposed to National Socialism in Germany, and consequently banned in Germany.

Deutsche La Plata Zeitung*, 1900-1933. Bludeau Partners International, LLC ($11,840)

Hermann Tjarks started Deutsche La Plata Zeitung in Buenos Aires in 1880. It was a competitor of Argeninisches Tageblatt (AT), and its conservative monarchist leanings put it in political opposition to AT. The papers differences increased in the 1920s, and Argentine National Socialist organizations recognized the papers value in their efforts to gain the support of Argentine Germans.

The loss of advertising revenue from Argentine Jews combined with free advertising for Argentine National Socialist Groups ruined La Plata Zeitung financially by 1938. Support from Germany rescued it temporarily, but the sinking of an Argentine freighter by a German submarine led to violent attacks on the publisher, and in 1944 the Argentine government ordered La Plata to cease publication.

Gubernskie Vedomosti*, 1838-1918. Bludeau Partners International, LLC ($14,750)

Gubernskie Vedomosti began to be published since the late 1830s by the local gubernia governments of imperial Russia. The number of titles steadily grew from the initial 4 to over 80 by 1918 when the last Gubernskie Vedomosti was closed down. The frequency of publication varied from title to title and from year to year, but most of the titles were published multiple times a week. They had a largely uniform organizational structure combining government news and laws into the official section and the rest mainly local affairs the unofficial section. Though irregularly they came out with supplements usually featuring substantial reports travelogues scholarly researches. Titles being acquired include: Kurskie gubernskie vedomosti, 1838-1918 and Kaliszskie gubernskie vedomosti, 1867-1914.
