Treason Trial, 1956-1961

On December 5, 1956, hundreds of policemen throughout the country descended on the homes of leaders of the Congress Alliance and arrested them. One hundred and fifty-six people - 104 Africans, 23 Whites, 21 Indians and 8 Coloureds - were charged with high treason, a capital offence in South Africa. The trial lasted until 1961, when all of the defendants were found not guilty. Some of the defendants were later convicted in the Rivonia Trial in 1964.

Rivonia Trial, 1963-1964

The Rivonia Trial was the outcome of a raid by the South African Police on the farm Lilliesleaf at Rivonia, near Johannesburg, on 11 July 1963. The trial was the most famous in the history of South African political resistance. Nelson Mandela, Walter Sisulu, Govan Mbeki and others were sentenced to life imprisonment on 12 June 1964.

Inquest into the death of Stephen Bantu Biko, 1977

Prominent anti-apartheid campaigner and founder of the Black Consciousness Movement, Stephen Bantu Biko was arrested on August 18, 1977 at a roadblock near King William's Town and detained under Section 6 of the Terrorism Act (1967). Biko died while in police custody on September 12, 1977. The inquest following his death was controversial in that, despite the evidence of his treatment while in detention and the fact that a post mortem examination revealed Biko had died from severe brain damage, the policemen accused of killing Biko were not prosecuted because of insufficient evidence.
