México, Jueves 16 de Enero de 1913.
Núm 527

ENTRE CRISANTEMAS DE PIERRE LOTI Y CARINOSOS BRINDIS, SE DESPIDE A DON GUSTAVO A. MADERO, EMBAJADOR ESPECIAL DE MEXICO AL JAPON

EN LA AMPLIA SALA DEL BICARELLI HALL, TACHONADA DE FLORES, SE EFECTUÓ LA CONVIVIALIDAD DE LOS AMIGOS DEL POLITICO

DEL RADISTA DE DISPUTAS: INGENIERO DON EDUARDO HAY, INGENIERO DON JOSÉ E. AGUILERA, SUBSECRETARIO DE Fomento, Colonia e Industria; EL EXCELENCIO DON VÍCTOR MORA Y ZORRILLA; INGENIERO DON JOSÉ LÓPEZ DE LA RUA, SUBSECRETARIO DE INSTRUCCION PÚBLICA Y BELLAS ARTES.

Fue asistido el banquete por la Banda de Artillería, que estuvo tocando solvencias presas de su repertorio, alternativamente con una magnífica orquesta que ejecutó excelsos trozos musicales.

LOS BRINDIS

A la hora del champagne se produjeron brindis muy significativos, el primero fue el brindis del diputado Borda Méndez; ofreciendo el banquete.

Con disfraz de paladar que se le ve en su caracterización, el diputado habló de emigración, de la casa de los diputados y del gobierno.

HISTORICAL NEWSPAPERS FROM AROUND THE GLOBE
Created in partnership with the Center for Research Libraries

WORLD NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE
Representing the largest fully searchable collection of historical newspapers from around the globe, the World Newspaper Archive was created in partnership with the Center for Research Libraries to advance research opportunities across a wide range of academic disciplines. To include historical newspapers published in Africa, Europe, Latin America, South Asia, Southeast Asia, the Middle East and other regions, this expansive resource can be cross-searched with America’s Historical Newspapers for unprecedented coverage of the people, cultures, issues and events that have shaped world history.

Center for Chinese Research Materials.

The Center had a standing order for all materials offered by the Center for Chinese Research Materials (CCRM) of the Association of Research Libraries from its beginning to November 1972. After 1972, the Center ordered selectively from the CCRM.

Materials received from the CCRM include newspapers, periodicals, press releases of the New China News Agency, Red Guard materials, bibliographies and materials of the Chinese Communist movement from 1937-1945. Records for individual titles are in the Center's catalog.

YEM FONG
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR & FACULTY DIRECTOR, COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT - UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO AT BOULDER

CRL recently negotiated an unscheduled special shared purchase on behalf of an economics faculty member at the University of Colorado at Boulder. Professor Carol H. Shiu has been working on research partially funded by an NSF grant entitled "What Explains Modern Economic Growth? New Evidence from a Comparison of China and Europe." Her research focuses on explaining the causes of growth, identifying the factors that determine whether growth is possible, and determining how it may be sustained. She pursues these issues by providing a detailed quantitative analysis of economic conditions that prevailed in major economies at the time of the turning point of modern economic growth between the 18th and the 20th centuries. The project assesses economic development of China in three major areas: domestic commodity markets, international market integration, and the accumulation of worker skills (human capital).

Her research requires access to a large 170 volume set that is only held by Harvard and Berkeley in the U.S. The Zhong guo jiu hai guan shi liao 1859–1948 is a complete publication of the original sources of the British maritime customs service when they were located in China starting in the 19th century. It is the only source covering international trade in China in this period that is fully comprehensive in scope. Other sources are scattered and incomplete. These sources were

The holdings at the Center for Research Libraries are especially rich in primary documents of political communications. The pamphlets, reports, newspapers, and illustrations of student materials held by CRL document the activities of political figures, parties, and organizations around the globe. Such documents are vital source materials for history and area studies, but tend to be produced erratically and disappear quickly.

The Hunter Collection consists of mass education materials published in Hong Kong and in Mainland China, particularly Shanghai, in the years 1947-1954. These include approximately 250 cartoon books, pamphlets, posters, and magazines, heavily pictorial in content, on such topics as foreign threats to Chinese security, Chinese relations with the Soviet Union, industrial and agricultural production, and marriage reform. The materials were produced by both Kuomintang (Chinese Nationalist) and Communist regimes, and appear to be directed at the general youth and adult populations of China.

Adam Cathcart, Assistant Professor of History at Hiram College, used the recently cataloged collection as the core primary source material for his M.A. thesis, "Against the Sun: The Chinese Communist Party and the Heirs to Japanese Imperialism," 1945-1950. Cathcart first learned about the CRL Hunter Collection materials through a search under "Chinese propaganda" in OhioLink's on-line catalog. Realizing the potential value of these materials, he immediately began to work from CRL, making in-depth work on this topic possible for Cathcart.

Cathcart was especially interested in the collection's Communist-produced materials, which illustrate how the emerging People's Republic regime sought to shape public sentiment toward foreign powers, particularly the United States and the Soviet Union, during the years leading up to the Korean Conflict. Cathcart notes that the materials document efforts by illustrators and cartoonists who were supportive of the Communist regime to present the United States as heir to Japanese Imperialism in East Asia. This strategy exploited unhappiness among many Chinese about American efforts during their post-war occupation of Japan to rebuild the country's industry and trade, rather than to redress wartime atrocities and destruction by the Japanese on the mainland.
