Use of News in Research & Teaching
CRL Forum: “Beyond the Fold”

Challenges

• Space / resources are increasingly scarce

• Variety, amount of news resources in electronic format increasing

• Born-digital archiving still not to scale

• New demands for scholarly access, use of content

• Uneven coverage / quality of digital resources
Cooperative Agenda – News Preservation

Advocacy
• Exert collective influence on publishers
• Support non-proprietary, community efforts
• Enlist support from non-traditional sectors

Assessment
• Better understand researcher needs
• Increase info on content & functionality
• Continue to monitor landscape of production

Lo que piensa el Licenciado D. Toribio Esquivel Obregón
Acerca de la Carta del Dr. D. Francisco Vázquez Gómez

"Creo que la paz no puede venir sino de la conciliación de los intereses de todos"

Esquivel Obregón

Les que verá el lector en el curso de este reportaje.

POR QUE NOS DIRÍAMOS AL DR. ESQUIVEL

Extrañado al ver a algunos de nuestros lectores que no están al tanto de ciertos acontecimientos de la política interior, que nos has trastradido el señor Esquivel Obregón, y a no estar al tanto de las noticias que la prensa ha publicado, estamos acostumbrados a leer y a comentar con el doctor Vázquez, por ejemplo, que en el secretario de la paz, tiene sus recuerdos y la actualidad.

Por una razón muy obvia: porque el señor doctor Vázquez tiene, no solo, "la paz" para todos, sino también, "la conciliación de los intereses de todos".

FROM OPINION

Players in the Coalition Against ISIS
By NAVAF OBAID and SAUD AL-SARHAN
The kingdom is not the source of ISIS, it’s the group’s primary target. With international support, and a regime that no longer supports it, the group’s days are numbered.
Global Research: US Hatches Assassination Plots To Blame Enemies

Corrected version: name of US persons redacted.

TEHRAN (FNA)- The US targeted killings and assassination plots are designed in a way that Washington can blame its enemies for them, global research reported.

Professor Bowen at Mary Baldwin College in a report titled 'This Timeline Reviews Changes in US Policy on the Issue of Assassination' in Global Research studied Washington's assassination attempts from 1949 to 2013.

As part of the US anti-communist policies in Guatemala, lists of human targets for political assassination were prepared as early as 1949. Offers of assistance and preparations for actual assassinations in Guatemala, 1952-54, involved agents of several foreign governments (i.e., Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua), Guatemalan anti-communists inside and outside Guatemala, and US intelligence personnel. The potential killing of elected Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman repeatedly was discussed, and in one 1953 meeting the CIA suggested that it be done in a manner so that it could be "laid to the commies."

Under two covert operations, PBFLORUNE under Pres. Truman and PBSUCCESS under Pres. Eisenhower, according to a CIA document declassified in 1997: "CIA officers responsible for planning and implementing covert action against the Arbenz Government engaged in extensive discussions over a two and a half year period about the possibility of assassinating government officials." Beyond planning, some actual preparations were made. Some assassins were selected, training began, and tentative "hit lists" were drawn up. Cold War realities and perceptions conditioned American attitudes toward which political weapons were legitimate to use in the struggle against communism." See: Gerald K. Haines, "CIA and Guatemala Assassination Proposals, 1952-1954," (Washington, D.C.: Central Intelligence Agency CIA History Staff Analysis, June 1995): 8-9; SECRET, declassified 1997.

Nov. 20, 1975: Senate Select Committee to study Governmental Operations with Respect to Intelligence Agencies (Church Committee) reported numerous CIA assassination attempts: Fidel Castro (Cuba), Patrice Lumumba (Congo), Rafael Trujillo (Dominican Republic), and 2 others occurred during the Presidencies of Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson, and Richard M. Nixon. Combined with Chilean revelations involving deaths of political and military leaders there (i.e., President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla, Armed Forces Chief of Staff Oscar Schmidt), many citizens began to see the United States as a key player in assassinations worldwide.

Collection Content

This digital collection from Readex provides access to approximately 270 U.S. newspapers published by and/or for African Americans from the mid-1800s to the late 1990s. Based on James P. Danky's African-American Newspapers and Periodicals: A National Bibliography, collection, completed in 2011, documents cultural events and activities of interest to African-American communities of the period.

Holdings Analysis

See Appendix African American Newspapers Title List Sept 2012 for a source title list provided by Readex.

The breadth of content is one of the key strengths of the Readex collection. Comparing the collection with the other major online sources of black newspapers—ProQuest’s historical Black Newspapers, Accessible Archives’ African American Newspapers, and the Library of Congress’ Chronicling America—Readex appears to offer the largest spread of titles in any one product, despite some overlap with the other databases.

Readex's African American Newspapers, 1827-1998 reportedly contains more than 31,000 issues from 275 titles.
