  – 11,000 titles from partnerships
  – 24,000 generated from ILL requests or member needs
  – 2,000 CDs/DVDs

• Over 14 Million pages

• Annual projected increases 5 Million+ pages
  – 1 Million from ILL
  – 4 Million+ partnerships
Digital Collections

CRL digitizes materials from our collections to support research and teaching. CRL also negotiates favorable terms with publishers for member institutions to acquire major electronic resources locally.

ITEMS

Documents, newspapers, books, and journals are among the items we have scanned in response to scholars' requests for loan of CRL holdings. We also anticipate research interests by selecting thematic groups of unique materials to digitize. All titles can be accessed from the CRL catalog.

Recently Digitized

- Gelatin in nutrition and medicine (1945)
- La question syrienne pendant la guerre de 1914 (1941)
- The modern practice of staircase and handrail construction, practically explained, in a series of designs. With plans and elevations for ornamental villas (1838)
- The present condition of China with reference to circumstances affecting international relations and the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends (1932)

News
Political communication and mass education in the early period of the People's Republic of China

Mass education materials published in Hong Kong and in Mainland China, particularly Shanghai, in the years 1947-1954. These cartoon books, pamphlets, postcards and magazines, on topics such as foreign threats to Chinese security, Chinese relations with the Soviet Union, industrial and agricultural production, and marriage reform, were produced by both Kuomintang (Nationalist) and Gongchuantang (Communist) supporters.

More about this collection
A collection of official gazettes and other key historical government documentation from countries where the integrity of the public record is known to be at risk. CRL's open web repository promotes transparency and accountability by providing a permanent public record of government documentation that defines the rights and obligations of citizens and records the activities of government. CRL is digitizing official gazettes from its extensive collection of print and microfilm, and will augment these materials by harvesting from the web more recent gazettes and related data published digitally.

Funding for digitization and hosting of gazettes from ten African and Persian Gulf countries was provided in part by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. More about this collection

Discovering CRL Resources Locally
Record Loading Basics

• Members can load all 1.4 Million Records or a subset of records, such as the records for electronic resources.

• Loading Records for electronic resources is the best way to increase your use of CRL resources.

• Three ways to obtain CRL records
  – Directly from CRL on quarterly schedule,
  – Through a major discovery system,
  – From OCLC’s Worldshare Collection Manager, updated weekly.
Obtaining Records Directly from CRL

- Determine which records you would like to obtain
  - All records,
  - Electronic resource records,
  - Custom group based on common characteristic such as format, language or place of publication,

- Contact Yoseline Louisma at ylouisma@crl.edu to establish your profile, provide a contact and receive your FTP authorization,

- Download the initial file of records,

- Download updates on schedule.
Obtaining Records From Discovery Systems

- Records are provided to all of the major discovery systems:
- Records are updated quarterly: January, April, July, & October,
- You choose the CRL collection,
- Collection contains all of CRL’s records,
- Configuration issues are resolved with the system vendor.

Frequently asked questions about knowledge base collections in Collection Manager

Collections and data updates

Which collections are available and how many titles have OCLC numbers?

All collections currently available in the WorldCat knowledge base, the underlying database for Collection Manager, are listed in the spreadsheet found on the Release notes page. It is updated monthly to reflect changes to the available collections.

See the spreadsheet of Collections in the WorldCat knowledge base (.xlsx).

The spreadsheet includes the percentage of items in each collection that contain an OCLC number. Items with OCLC numbers can have holdings set in WorldCat and/or can have MARC records output. Note that if a title does not have an OCLC number when you activate the title, you will automatically receive a record if an OCLC number is added at a later time.

What is the Center for Research Libraries (CRL)?
The University of San Diego is a member of the Center for Research Libraries, an international consortium of university, college, and independent research libraries. CRL acquires and preserves new and other primary source materials from a global network of sources, making them accessible via print and digital delivery. USD faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to use CRL.

What is available through CRL?
CRL’s deep and diverse holdings support research in the history of science, economics, law and government, immigration and population studies, international diplomacy, and cultural studies. Find this material by searching the CRL catalog.

- Largest collection of circulating newspapers in North America (over 16,000 titles with strengths in various global areas and historical U.S. ethnic titles)
- Over 800,000 foreign dissertations (mostly from European institutions) dating back to the 1800s
- Primary legal and government resources, including foreign and U.S. state documents
- Area studies materials—major microform and paper collections from Africa, Latin America, Eastern Europe, the Middle East, South Asia, and Southeast Asia
Center for Research Libraries: CRL and the Linda Hall Library

The Center for Research Libraries is an international consortium of university, college, and independent research libraries.

What is the CRL - Linda Hall Library partnership?

The Linda Hall Library is the world’s foremost independent research library devoted to science, engineering, and technology. CRL and the Linda Hall Library formed a strategic partnership in 2012 to preserve and develop historical research collections in the fields of science, technology, and engineering.

What is Available Through the Partnership?

The collections covered by the partnership include current and back issues of over 50,000 journal titles acquired and maintained by CRL and Linda Hall over the years. These include print serials from Elsevier, Wiley, Springer, and other publishers; historical serials published by the Russian Academy of Sciences and other learned societies in Europe, Asia, and the U.S.; foreign serials in the fields of Physics, Chemistry, and Engineering received through the Library of Congress Cooperative Acquisition Program; engineering specifications, technical reports, standards and other publications of U.S. and foreign government agencies; and other retrospective serials held by CRL and Linda Hall.

Linda Hall Library includes the print library collection of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, acquired in 1946, part of the library of the Franklin Institute, acquired in 1985, and the Engineering Societies Library (ESL), from a 1995 transfer.

The combined CRL and Linda Hall STE print serials are available electronically to CRL libraries through on-demand digitization and traditional document delivery.

How do I Find Resources in the Linda Hall Library?

The CRL and Linda Hall Library catalogs are not curated. To find resources in the Linda Hall Library, use the Linda Hall Library catalog for:

- Keyword Searching
- Advanced Searching
- Browsing by Subject, Author, Title or Call Number
- Browse the Linda Hall Digital Collections

Linda Hall Library also provides a finding aid for Diffx, this platform will yield a brief citation with limited bibliographic information.

Library Subject Liaison for assistance with this platform.

I found a Linda Hall Resource that I need. Now what do I do?

The USD membership with CRL allows us to request material from the Linda Hall Library free-of-charge through CRL. You can email bibliographic information to your Copley Library subject liaison to help you request the material through CRL.

Marketing Tools

CRL provides materials and information to help member institutions promote CRL resources and services locally. To obtain materials, or to discuss ways to promote CRL on campus, please contact members@crl.edu.

CRL Collections Brochures

The depth and diversity of CRL's primary source materials and collection highlights are showcased in a color printed brochure. Designed to help CRL libraries spread the word among library staff, research and teaching faculty, students, and others, the brochures are available in quantity at no cost on request.

CRL Flyers

CRL's one-page flyer (which can be customized on request) is designed for mass distribution throughout the library, at faculty and student orientations, and other opportunities. The flyer highlights CRL benefits and privileges that researchers appreciate most:

- Unlimited access to rich and diverse collections; project-length loans
- Digital delivery for many loan requests
- Purchase of materials on demand
