Discovering CRL Resources in Your Local Catalog
Record Loading Basics

• Members can load all 1.4 Million Records or a subset of records, such as the records for electronic resources.

• Loading Records for electronic resources is the best way to increase your use of CRL resources.

• Three ways to obtain CRL records
  – Directly from CRL on quarterly schedule,
  – Through a major discovery system,
  – From OCLC’s Worldshare Collection Manager, updated weekly.
Obtaining Records Directly from CRL

- Determine which records you would like to obtain
  - All records,
  - Electronic resource records,
  - Custom group based on common characteristic such as format, language or place of publication,
- Contact Yoseline Louisma at ylouisma@crl.edu to establish your profile, provide a contact and receive your FTP authorization,
- Download the initial file of records,
- Download updates on schedule.
Obtaining Records From Discovery Systems

- Records are provided to all of the major discovery systems:
- Records are updated quarterly: January, April, July, & October,
- You choose the CRL collection,
- Collection contains all of CRL’s records,
- Configuration issues are resolved with the system vendor.
Obtaining CRL Records from Worldshare Collection Manager

- Collection Manager
  - Search Collections with "crl", My Selected Collections

Frequently asked questions about knowledge base collections in Collection Manager

Collections and data updates

Which collections are available and how many titles have OCLC numbers?

All collections currently available in the WorldCat knowledge base, the underlying database for Collection Manager, are listed in the spreadsheet found on the Release notes page. It is updated monthly to reflect changes to the available collections.

See the spreadsheet of Collections in the WorldCat knowledge base (.xlsx).

The spreadsheet includes the percentage of items in each collection that contain an OCLC number. Items with OCLC numbers can have holdings set in WorldCat and/or can have MARC records output. Note that if a title does not have an OCLC number when you activate the title, you will automatically receive a record if an OCLC number is added at a later time.

Cooperative Collection Building

http://www.crl.edu/collections/cooperative-collection-building

Through CRL, knowledgeable individuals at college, university, and independent research libraries in the United States, Canada and Hong Kong work together to identify, preserve, and acquire collections that support advanced research and teaching. CRL promotes the efforts of these communities of interest by maintaining access to extensive shared collections. CRL’s three longstanding cooperative collection building programs enable CRL libraries to expand the range of essential source materials available to researchers at their institutions while saving local acquisitions and storage costs.

- Demand Purchase Program
- Purchase Proposal Program
- Shared Purchase Program

CRL’s Member Liaison & Outreach Services Director works with librarians, faculty, and students from member libraries to identify and select materials for addition to CRL collections.
Demand Purchase Program

- Archival material - from national governments, NGOs, and other organizations and institutions

- Foreign Doctoral Dissertations - from institutions in countries outside of the U.S. and Canada

- Newspapers - for which CRL owns at least one day of a newspaper title
  - $2,000 limit per patron per fiscal year
  - Initiated by an ILL request
  - It is the “You demand, we purchase” program

Program used to purchase U.S. newspapers to investigate coverage of the death of Emmett Till.
Demand Purchase Program

Archival material
Governments, agencies, etc.
- U.S. National Archives
- U.K. National Archives
- NGOs and institutions

CRL purchased a copy of the Fort Smith Sedition Trial for a class at Northwestern University.
Demand Purchase Program

Foreign Doctoral Dissertations

• Degree awarding institution must be in a country outside of the U.S. and Canada

• “If not owned, please purchase”

• Signed Copyright Declaration
  - Oxford
  - Cambridge
  - Hong Kong
  - Leeds
  - Manchester

• EThOS (http://ethos.bl.uk/ )
Purchase Proposal Program

When all the German Industrialists files needed by a researcher could not be purchased via the Demand Purchase Program, the rest were purchased via the Purchase Proposal Program.

Shared Purchase Program

In FY16 the Shared Purchase Program bought coverage of an important business trade newspaper that won an award for its coverage of the Savings and Loan Crisis of the 80s.
Topic Guides

CRL offers topic guides listing a selection of key source materials that can support research in various areas. New citations are added from time to time; reformulated guides (marked below) also provide an overview of the current “landscape” of information dissemination and collecting in particular fields, and reference selected online resources available through CRL.

Member libraries are encouraged to reference CRL collection strengths in local subject guides. Options include:

- Linking to CRL topic guides, or to specific titles or archival sets cited in the guides
- Linking to a defined search tab within the CRL catalog, such as “Newspapers” or “Dissertations”
- Consulting with CRL to create customized scripts to search the CRL catalog for particular topics

Sample boilerplate language is available for referencing CRL collections.

Tools for Marketing CRL Locally
Model Practices for Promoting CRL

CRL member libraries including the University of Arkansas, Dartmouth College, Pepperdine University, and the University of San Diego describe CRL’s collections and services in key website pages. The University of Connecticut's Homer Babbidge Library features a description of CRL as an interlibrary loan resource and also as one of several unique collections available to researchers. Carleton University in Ottawa produced a wonderful video interviewing student and faculty users of CRL materials. Many libraries report on CRL activities in newsletters directed to faculty: Pepperdine University announced their new membership, while at longtime member DePaul University, University Librarian Scott Walter reminded faculty of the benefits available from CRL, noting that “DePaul faculty and students are able to make use of a wealth of international collections through our membership.”

There are many place you can integrate references to CRL, including:

- Catalogs and other discovery tools.
- Subject guides (list specific collection categories or items).
- Bibliographic instruction materials.
- Library newsletters.
- Postings on blogs and social media (highlight current CRL acquisitions or webinars).

Center for Research Libraries: Home

The Center for Research Libraries is an international consortium of university, college, and independent research libraries.

What is the Center for Research Libraries (CRL)?

The University of San Diego is a member of the Center for Research Libraries, an international consortium of university, college, and independent research libraries. CRL acquires and preserves newspapers, journals, and other primary source materials from a global network of sources, making them available for research and digital delivery. USD faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to use CRL.

What is available through CRL?

CRL’s deep and diverse holdings support research in the history of science, economics, law and government, immigration and population studies, international diplomacy, and cultural studies. Find this material by searching the CRL catalog.

- Largest collection of circulating newspapers in North America (over 16,000 titles with strengths in various global areas and historical U.S. ethnic titles)
- Over 800,000 foreign dissertations (mostly from European institutions) dating back to the 1800s
- Primary legal and government resources, including foreign and U.S. state documents
- Area studies materials—major microform and paper collections from Africa, Latin America, Eastern Europe, the Middle East, South Asia, and Southeast Asia
As part of CRL's Global Resources Forum, topic guides provide insights on key source materials for research in areas of special interest to CRL libraries. The topic guides cover a wide range of subject areas and highlight selected CRL resources and essays that survey current challenges of collecting primary source materials in various subject areas.

You can access a list of CRL topic guides from this link. The guides vary widely in the amount of information they contain about information and CRL resources related to the corresponding subject areas.

What Kind of Resources are Listed in a CRL Topic Guide?

Most Topic Guides include a tabbed section on resources located in the CRL Collections. This CRL Collections tab contains descriptions of a resource or collection as well as a catalog link to the bibliographic record in the CRL catalog, if there is one. Many resources listed on this tab also have an online guide available to highlight items that you might find interesting. See the example below:

Plant taxonomic literature microfiche collection

Publisher: Meckler/Chadwyck-Healy Publishing
Temporal Coverage: 16th - 19th century

James A. Mears selected 4,679 important works in plant taxonomy from Stafleu and Cowan’s Taxonomic Literature (second edition). These works are included in this microfiche collection. The collection has been analyzed and selected works are best found using the guide to the collection. The catalog record link below is a canned search of:

CRL Resources Cited in Library Guides

Dartmouth College

Corriere della sera
Complete run from 1959-1985 on microfilm. Some older dates as well.

Il nuovo corriere della sera
Holdings range from 1946-1959

Center for Research Libraries (CRL)
Excellent source for historical newspapers. You can browse newspapers by country, and then request materials to be delivered to Dartmouth via DartDoc.
Describing CRL for Customized Reference in Local Subject Guides

Researchers at [name of your institution] have access to the extensive primary source collections of the Center for Research Libraries, an international consortium of university, college and independent research libraries. CRL acquires and preserves newspapers, journals, documents, archives, and other resources for research and teaching. You can request an interlibrary loan or have materials digitized on demand.

Suggested additional customization: note CRL collection strengths, such as historical newspapers, government documents, or archival collections; link to one or more of CRL’s topic guides (or link to specific citations); or obtain a customized script to search the CRL catalog for a particular topic.

Boilerplate Text Describing CRL for Local Use

https://www.crl.edu/membership/boilerplate-text

To aid in local promotion of Center for Research Libraries collections and services, CRL has compiled the following boilerplate text. Note that there are also more detailed descriptions available in various sections of this website.

Describing CRL in 40 Words

The Center for Research Libraries is an international consortium of university, college, and independent research libraries. CRL supports advanced research and teaching in the humanities, sciences, and social sciences by preserving and making available to scholars critical primary source material.

Describing CRL in 150 Words

The Center for Research Libraries is an international consortium of university, college, and independent research libraries. CRL provides a shared collection of five million books, journals, documents and newspapers. Long runs of CRL materials can be borrowed for extended periods, and many materials are digitized on demand. CRL is committed to expanding electronic access to international primary source collections, participating in a number of collaborative efforts that have generated over 35 million pages of digitized content to date.

CRL’s resources include:

- The largest circulating collection of newspapers in North America—6,500 international titles (some dating to the 1700s) and 4500 U.S. newspapers (including 2,000 ethnic titles)
- Access to rich holdings in STE print serials through a partnership with the Linda Hall Library of Science, Technology and Engineering
- More than 800,000 non U.S. dissertations
- Area Studies: major collections of news, government documents, and archives from Africa, Latin America, Middle East, Europe...
CRL Promotional Literature

Marketing Tools

CRL provides materials and information to help member institutions promote CRL resources and services locally. To obtain materials, or to discuss ways to promote CRL on campus, please contact members@crl.edu.

CRL Collections Brochures

The depth and diversity of CRL’s primary source materials and collection highlights are showcased in a color printed brochure. Designed to help CRL libraries spread the word among library staff, research and teaching faculty, students, and others, the brochures are available in quantity at no cost on request.

CRL Flyers

CRL’s one-page flyer (which can be customized on request) is designed for mass distribution throughout the library, at faculty and student orientations, and other opportunities. The flyer highlights CRL benefits and privileges that researchers appreciate most:

- Unlimited access to rich and diverse collections; project-length loans
- Digital delivery for many loan requests
- Purchase of materials on demand
